VAN DRIVER OF THE YEAR 2021

David Wells
Chief Executive, Logistics UK

Welcome

The UK's light commercial vehicle sector has never been more important to the nation's economy. According to the latest figures from SMMT, there are now more than 4.6 million vans on Britain's roads – their 11th year of consecutive growth.

It's not difficult to understand the rise of the van. The COVID-19 pandemic has brought about profound changes to the way we live and work in the UK, including the switch to working from home, the decline of high street retail and the rise of online shopping. It is my view that these trends will not be reversed.

That there has been a mass migration to cashless digital services is clear for all to see; but the part that is often forgotten is the huge growth in last-mile logistics needed to service this digital revolution. Since the first national lockdown, more and more of us have grown used to the convenience of having goods and services delivered direct to our front door, and the nation's army of van drivers and parcel couriers have proved themselves more than equal to the task of providing a fast, efficient and reliable service.

To be a truly competent van driver, you need to possess a broad portfolio of skills – spatial awareness, physical dexterity, safety awareness and a knowledge of the fundamentals of transport legislation. Few would disagree that those who are the best in the business in this important vehicle sector deserve to be both recognised and rewarded.

That is why it gives me great pleasure to be able to celebrate the achievements of the participants and winners of the Van Driver of the Year 2021 competition in this supplement. The finalists named in this brochure all excelled on a broad range of tasks – from executing tight manoeuvres to detecting vehicle defects – and they are to be congratulated on their professionalism.

It only remains for me to thank our Van Gold Partners – the AA, Bott, Brigade, Hertz, Lex Autolease, Quartix and TVL Security. This competition would not have been possible without their generous support, committed engagement and commercial insight.

VAN DRIVER OF THE YEAR 2021

“ I am delighted to be named as Logistics UK’s Van Driver of the Year. There have been so many talented and dedicated drivers here today and it is amazing to have beaten off such skilled competition. I love my role as a van driver and have worked tirelessly over the past year to learn and continuously improve, to ensure I uphold the high standards of the van sector. This has been a difficult period both within the industry, and across the nation and it feels wonderful to be recognised for the work that we do.
