Article or Feature Reprints

Article or feature reprints are available by ordering a customised reprint. They can be used for a wide variety of promotional opportunities including

- sales literature
- product launches
- targeted direct mail
- distributor support
- exhibitions and internal PR

Reprints

Using exactly the same copy as the original written feature or article, a reprint can be produced in the format which best suits your need.

Choose from editorial or advertising combinations in a layout of your choice.

Copyright permission – if you would like your article to be reproduced as part of a larger document then copyright usage can be purchased.

e-prints

Create an online impact with an e-print. Simply take your article or existing reprint and place it on your website. e-prints are very flexible and can be supplied under a licensing agreement giving you the opportunity to specify the length of time you wish to use it. The added advantage of e-prints are quick turnaround times which means your article can be posted on your website within hours.
